

U.S. Department of Justice

Office of Legislative Affairs

Office of the Assistant Attorney General

Washington, D.C. 20530

April 21, 2015

The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
Chairman
Committee on the Judiciary
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This letter constitutes the Department of Justice's (the Department) final report to Congress pursuant to the reporting requirement in the Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (FERA), Pub. L. No. 111-21, 123 Stat. 1617 (effective May 20, 2009). An identical letter has been sent to the Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

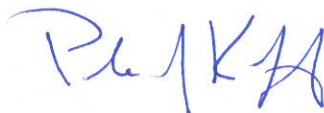

FERA included a "Sense of Congress" provision stating that money laundering prosecutions should be approved by a Department official if the conduct to be charged as money laundering was so closely connected with the conduct to be charged as the underlying "specified unlawful activity" that there was no clear delineation between the two offenses. FERA further provided that the Department submit annual reports to the House and Senate Committees on the Judiciary for the first five years after the date of FERA's enactment. Specifically, the Department is required to report (i) the number of prosecutions that were undertaken after approval by an appropriate official during the reporting year (May to May); (ii) the number of prosecutions that were undertaken during the reporting year without prior approval; and (iii) the number of times during the reporting year that the Department denied approval for a prosecution.

As a result of procedures established by the Assistant Attorney General of the Criminal Division and incorporated into the United States Attorneys' Manual, all federal prosecutors must consult with the Department's Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section (AFMLS) prior to filing an indictment or complaint that includes a money laundering offense of the type described in FERA. During the period from May 2013 to May 2014, federal prosecutors consulted with AFMLS in hundreds of money laundering cases. Some of those cases involved the type of money laundering offense described in FERA, i.e., where the conduct to be charged as money laundering was closely connected with the conduct to be charged as the underlying "specified unlawful activity." With respect to those cases, the Department reports that: (i) three (3) prosecutions were undertaken after approval by an appropriate official; (ii) zero (0) prosecutions were undertaken without prior approval; and (iii) the Department denied approval for prosecution in zero (0) cases.

The Honorable Charles E. Grassley
Page Two

We hope this information is helpful. Please do not hesitate to contact this office if we may provide additional assistance regarding this or any other matter.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Peter J. Kadzik". The signature is stylized and written in a cursive-like font.

Peter J. Kadzik
Assistant Attorney General

cc: The Honorable Patrick J. Leahy
Ranking Member

U.S. Department of Justice

Office of Legislative Affairs

Office of the Assistant Attorney General

Washington, D.C. 20530

April 21, 2015

The Honorable Robert W. Goodlatte
Chairman
Committee on the Judiciary
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This letter constitutes the Department of Justice's (the Department) final report to Congress pursuant to the reporting requirement in the Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (FERA), Pub. L. No. 111-21, 123 Stat. 1617 (effective May 20, 2009). An identical letter has been sent to the Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

FERA included a "Sense of Congress" provision stating that money laundering prosecutions should be approved by a Department official if the conduct to be charged as money laundering was so closely connected with the conduct to be charged as the underlying "specified unlawful activity" that there was no clear delineation between the two offenses. FERA further provided that the Department submit annual reports to the House and Senate Committees on the Judiciary for the first five years after the date of FERA's enactment. Specifically, the Department is required to report (i) the number of prosecutions that were undertaken after approval by an appropriate official during the reporting year (May to May); (ii) the number of prosecutions that were undertaken during the reporting year without prior approval; and (iii) the number of times during the reporting year that the Department denied approval for a prosecution.

As a result of procedures established by the Assistant Attorney General of the Criminal Division and incorporated into the United States Attorneys' Manual, all federal prosecutors must consult with the Department's Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section (AFMLS) prior to filing an indictment or complaint that includes a money laundering offense of the type described in FERA. During the period from May 2013 to May 2014, federal prosecutors consulted with AFMLS in hundreds of money laundering cases. Some of those cases involved the type of money laundering offense described in FERA, i.e., where the conduct to be charged as money laundering was closely connected with the conduct to be charged as the underlying "specified unlawful activity." With respect to those cases, the Department reports that: (i) three (3) prosecutions were undertaken after approval by an appropriate official; (ii) zero (0) prosecutions were undertaken without prior approval; and (iii) the Department denied approval for prosecution in zero (0) cases.

The Honorable Robert W. Goodlatte
Page Two

We hope this information is helpful. Please do not hesitate to contact this office if we may provide additional assistance regarding this or any other matter.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Peter J. Kadzik". The signature is stylized and written in a cursive-like font.

Peter J. Kadzik
Assistant Attorney General

cc: The Honorable John Conyers, Jr.
Ranking Member